ACADEMIC SERVICES AND PROGRAMS

ACADEMIC ADVISING

The college academic advising offices and the academic departments are the designated campus units responsible for providing official academic advice and direction to undergraduate students. The college academic advising offices and departments have primary responsibility for academic advice and services that assist new and continuing students to develop educational plans and course schedules which are compatible with their interests, academic preparation, and educational and career goals.

Specifically, the college academic advisors conduct academic orientation/enrollment programs for all new students and advise new and continuing students about college general-education and graduation requirements. The advising staff of each college provides general academic and curricular information, clarifies academic rules and regulations, reviews all aspects of academic probation, monitors academic progress, assists students with decision-making strategies, and provides information about major prerequisites as well as criteria for departments that screen students. In conjunction with the academic departments and the Office of the Registrar, the college advising offices certify graduation and generally facilitate students' college academic adjustment to the university.

Moreover, college academic advisors are available to counsel students about educational alternatives, selection of courses and majors, program changes, new academic opportunities, and special programs such as exchange programs, honors programs, outreach programs, etc.

See your college academic advisor for assistance with academic concerns or referral to appropriate academic support units.

ACADEMIC COMPUTING & MEDIA SERVICES

Academic Computing & Media Services (ACMS) supports technology in the classroom, online tools such as the campus learning management system, campus computing labs, student e-mail, hardware repair, the administration of software site licenses, the Distance Learning Center, and the Media Lab.

Student Computing

The main function of ACMS is to provide facilities for instructional computing. In addition to servers, ACMS maintains over 1800 workstations of various types available across campus. These include Windows, Macintosh, and UNIX workstations located in public areas, computer labs, and libraries.

A wide variety of software is available on various platforms, including general office productivity and Web site design applications; compilers and program development tools; special purpose packages for electronic design, mechanical engineering, animation, statistics, genetic studies, and mathematics.

Beyond instructional computing, ACMS provides facilities to students for popular activities such as e-mail, personal Web sites, student organization Web sites, and other network-based communications. Incoming students receive personal account information after indicating their Intent to Register.

ACMS has student assistants who are available at scheduled times in computer labs to help students use the facilities. These assistants complement other forms of support such as guidance from instructors and teaching assistants, and online documentation.

ACMS provides both instructional and extracurricular computing services to students through a single "personalized" account. The goal is to make computing more convenient and flexible, and to allow students to pursue academic computing interests on their own initiative. Students can obtain a printing account and, for relatively low cost, print to high-quality black-and-white or color laser printers or large-format plotters.

SAN DIEGO SUPERCOMPUTER CENTER (SDSC)

Mail Code 0505

(858) 534-5000 (general inquiries)

(858) 534-5100

<http://www.sdsc.edu>

Over the past two decades, the San Diego Supercomputer Center (SDSC) has enabled science and engineering discoveries through advances in computational science and high-performance computing. Data is an overriding theme in SDSC activities. By developing and providing data cyberinfrastructure, the center acts as a strategic resource to science, industry, and academia, offering leadership in the areas of data management, grid computing, bioinformatics, geoinformatics, and high-end computing.

The mission of SDSC is to extend the reach of the scientific community by providing data-oriented technology resources above and beyond the limits of what is available in the local laboratory, department, and university environment. SDSC is an organized research unit of UC San Diego. Staff includes scientists, technologists, software developers, and support personnel. Over the years, SDSC has served more than 10,000 researchers at 300 academic, government, and industrial institutions in the United States and around the world. Today, these scientists and engineers increasingly rely on the availability of integrated data cyberinfrastructure tools such as hardware, software, and human support to drive research and education. Cyberinfrastructure provides a broad and useful spectrum of integrated technologies to support increasingly complex, data-intensive, and collaborative scientific endeavors.

When an application's or research project's technological needs outgrow the capabilities of its home environment, cyberinfrastructure extends the reach of the scientist by providing needed storage, high-speed networking, archiving and preservation, high-performance computing, and other resources remotely. SDSC provides both the tools and the facilities that integrate a user's home environment with a high-end, resource-rich, remote environment. Users can take advantage of SDSC's visualization, interdisciplinary expertise, and other resources to extend their home environments and accomplish their goals.

To meet the modern scientist's and engineer's extreme data needs, the center provides an integrated set of software and user services, including

- An internationally renowned environment for data management, mining, curation, analysis, visualization, access and preservation, as well as leadership-class storage technologies
- A broad spectrum of software tools, portals, workbenches, and packages integrated to enable users to develop and deploy complex applications
- Professional user services that enable users to make the most out of cutting-edge hardware, software, and information resources
- A range of collaboration vehicles for working with partners on strategic and community applications, data collections, and projects
- An advanced cyberinfrastructure laboratory

that provides an environment for designing, developing, and testing software and hardware systems at scale

- A computational and storage infrastructure for community data collections. Our team helps researchers from a wide variety of scientific domains to manage, mine, analyze, publish, and share datasets

Along with these tools, SDSC also offers users full-time support including 24-hour helpdesk services, code optimization, training, portal development, and a variety of other services.

SDSC was founded in 1985 with a $170 million grant from the National Science Foundation's Supercomputer Centers program. From 1997 to 2004, SDSC extended its leadership in computational science and engineering to form the National Partnership for Advanced Computational Infrastructure (NPACI), teaming with approximately forty university partners around the country.

The demanding research problems that are being tackled by the scientists using SDSC's cyberinfrastructure tools are numerous and diverse. A few key programs focus on understanding the origin of the universe, visualizing earthquakes, providing data management for disaster recovery organizations, modeling proteins, simulating the human nervous system, and predicting climate changes.

Cyberinfrastructure Resources

SDSC has launched a wide-ranging project called the Triton Resource, a high-impact massive data analysis and preservation system that will accelerate innovation and discovery through the use of leading-edge research cyberinfrastructure at SDSC. The Triton Resource provides supercomputing capabilities in three key areas: a large-scale disk storage facility, a data analysis facility for petascale research, and a shared research cluster. These are connected via a high-speed 10-gigabit network already in place at the UC San Diego campus. The three prongs of Triton consist of

- Data Oasis, a high-performance storage system, which will assist in the practical manipulation of data across high-bandwidth paths to researchers throughout UC San Diego and the UC system. This system will store, manage, and preserve the deluge of data from research instruments and experiments that forms the basis for future generations of research.
- Petascale Data Analysis Facility, capable of analyzing data from petascale computers, in which one petaflop of compute power equals one quadrillion calculations per second. That is the equivalent of having about 100,000 laptops to create simulations at a level of detail or scope previously not possible for scientists.
- Condo Cluster, a scalable, shared resource or group of linked computers equipped with standard compute nodes but enhanced memory capability. The cluster may be configured to operate in a standard batch mode or be set up to allow users to run customized software stacks at scale, with full connectivity to large-scale storage.

SDSC's new "green" data center, launched during a new building addition dedication in October 2008, is equipped to house colocation servers for UC San Diego and UC researchers and academic units. The 5,000 square-foot data center, which augments the center's previous 13,000 square-foot data center, contains the latest energy-efficient technologies and is managed by a staff of professionals on a 24-7 basis. Other key features of the new building addition include a state-of-the-art visualization center, high-tech conference room, and an OptiPortal, used by SDSC's chief scientific officer and interim director Michael Norman to visualize results from cosmology simulations on the cutting-edge petascale machines.

The center also is a founding member of and serves as a data-intensive site lead in the National Science Foundation-funded TeraGrid, a multiyear effort to build and deploy the first national-scale grid infrastructure for open scientific research. The center's supercomputing resources include Dash, a new high-performance computer and the first to feature flash-based memory to speed solutions for data-intensive problems.

SDSC also is partnering with UCSD Libraries, the National Center for Atmospheric Research, and the University of Maryland in a data-preservation project called Chronopolis, a geographically distributed data grid that supports the long-term management, stewardship, and access to digital collections. The system incorporates trust and reliability through replication, service-level agreements, monitoring, and rule-based systems.

Research Allocations, Resources, and Support

SDSC provides access to its vast array of data and computational resources and services for all UC researchers with a need for leading-edge research cyberinfrastructure. SDSC offers the foundation for custom cyberinfrastructure capabilities defined by UC-led activities. Any qualified UC researcher can request access to these resources. Some services are available free of charge and others via campus recharge.

All researchers with access to SDSC's resources are supported by SDSC's consulting staff, available online (<http://www.sdsc.edu/us/consulting>), by phone, or by e-mail: 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Researchers and students with accounts are welcome to attend SDSC's periodic training workshops (<http://www.sdsc.edu/us/training>).

For more information and to apply, visit the SDSC Web site at <http://www.sdsc.edu> or contact opportunities@sdsc.edu.

Additional Opportunities for the Campus Community

Undergraduate students are considered for all financial aid sources up to their fifth year of college attendance (except for Cal Grants) and limited funding up to their sixth year. For graduate student duration requirements and for more detailed information on UCSD's Satisfactory Academic Progress standards for students enrolled full-time in a degree program, please see our Web site at <http://fao.ucsd.edu>. For policy information on approved part-time status students and limited status students, please contact the Financial Aid Office.

For evaluation of financial need, all applicants must submit a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and, if requested, copies of the 2009 federal income tax returns, and any other required documents. The FAFSA form should be filed by March 2, 2010, the UCSD priority filing date, with the appropriate processing agency and must indicate the University of California, San Diego (list Federal School Code 001317) to receive a processed copy of the FAFSA. Late applicants will be considered for limited aid. All supporting documents must be submitted and all processing holds must be cleared by the student by May 1, 2010, to be considered for University Grant, Work Study, Federal Perkins Loan, or University Loan.

Receiving Financial Aid

UC financial aid for students with demonstrated financial need is funded by a combination, or “package”, of gift and self-help aid. Grants and scholarships are awards that do not have to be repaid. Self-help aid may consist of a loan, which does have to be repaid, or a work-study award, earned by working a part-time job while attending school, or a combination of both. UCSD ensures that students in similar circumstances receive similar packages. Grant funds are directed to the most needy students. Students who are nonresidents of California should note that need-based financial aid funds are not sufficient to meet the additional cost of nonresident tuition and additional education fee (2010–11 undergraduate estimate is $22,879; graduate and professional estimates vary). The family should be prepared to provide this amount from their own personal resources or educational loan programs. The various types of aid and programs that may be included in need-based packages are listed below:

Federal Pell Grant

The Federal Pell Grant program is designed to provide financial assistance to undergraduates attending postsecondary educational institutions. Amounts range from $1,176 to $5,550 for 2010–11.

Federal Academic Competitiveness Grants (ACG)

ACG awards are for first- or second-year undergraduate students who have completed a rigorous secondary school program of study and receive the Federal Pell Grant. Second-year students must have at least a 3.0 cumulative UC GPA as of the end of their first academic year of undergraduate study.

University of California Grant Program

The University of California Grant Program provides grants to undergraduate and graduate students.

University of California Fee Grant

The UC Fee Grant is a need-based grant to partially cover half of the increase in University of California systemwide fees for undergraduate students who do not receive another fee-paying award and whose family income is $120,000 or less. Awards range from $200 to $672 for 2010–11. In order to qualify, a student must meet all other financial aid eligibility requirements.

University of California Blue and Gold Opportunity Plan

Available for California residents in their first four years of undergraduate attendance at UC (first two years if a transfer student) with an annual family income of $70,000 or below and who meet other basic eligibility requirements for need-based financial aid. Awards vary depending upon the total amount of gift aid received; if existing gift aid from all other sources does not cover the systemwide UC fees, the Blue and Gold grant will make up the balance.

Federal Science and Mathematics Access to Retain Talent (SMART) Grants

SMART Grants are available to third- or fourth-year full-time undergraduate students receiving a Federal Pell Grant with at least a 3.0 cumulative UC GPA, pursuing a major in physical, life, or computer sciences, mathematics, technology, engineering, or a critical foreign language.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG)

SEOG awards are federally funded and are available only to undergraduates, pending available funds. Awards may range from $100 to $4,000 per academic year.

Cal Grants (Undergraduate)

Cal Grants are awarded by the California Student Aid Commission to undergraduate California residents. All resident applicants for UCSD aid are required to apply for a Cal Grant. To be considered as a new recipient, the FAFSA and the GPA Verification Form must be postmarked or submitted online on or prior to March 2, 2010. Current recipients must file a FAFSA each year to have their awards renewed.

Federal Work-Study

Federal work-study awards are employment programs that provide funds for student employment by the university or by public and private profit/nonprofit organizations. The work-study program provides experience in many fields, including experimental sciences, library work, recreation, computer sciences, peer counseling, and office work. Pay ranges from minimum wage and above. Job listings and referrals are provided through the Career Services Center.

Federal Perkins Loans

This loan carries a 5 percent interest rate. Students begin paying both the principal and the interest nine months after ceasing to be enrolled at least half-time.

University Loans

This loan is available to undergraduate students demonstrating financial need. Repayment of both the principal and the 5 percent fixed interest begins nine months after ceasing to be enrolled at least half-time.

Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loans

The annual maximum allowed during the first year of undergraduate study is $3,500. Sophomores can borrow an annual maximum of $4,500, and the yearly limit for juniors and seniors is $5,500, with an undergraduate cumulative maximum of $23,000. Graduate students may borrow up to $8,500 per academic year with an aggregate sum up to $65,000, including the amount borrowed as an undergraduate. The interest rate is fixed at 4.5 percent for loans disbursed on or after July 1, 2010.

The federal government pays (subsidizes) the interest on the student's behalf during in-school (enrolled in six units or more), grace, and authorized deferment periods. Repayment of principal and interest begins six months after the borrower leaves school or ceases to be enrolled as a half-time student.

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loans

Students who do not have financial need eligibility for the maximum Federal Direct Subsidized Stafford Loan may borrow under this program. The annual maximum and interest rate are the same as the Subsidized Stafford Loan. Dependent undergraduates may borrow an additional $2,000. Independent undergraduates may borrow an additional $4,000 to $5,000 annually; graduate students may borrow an additional $12,000 annually. The maximums include amounts borrowed under the Federal Direct Stafford Loan program. Aggregate maximums are $31,000 for dependent undergraduates, $57,500 for independent undergraduates, and $138,500 for graduate students. The interest is not paid on the student's behalf. Interest begins accruing immediately after disbursement, but payment of principal and interest may be deferred until six months after ceasing to be enrolled for six units or more. The amount borrowed cannot exceed the cost of education minus other financial aid resources (including other need-based loans).

Federal Direct PLUS Loans for Parents

Parents of dependent undergraduate students are eligible to borrow under this program if they have no adverse credit history and meet program eligibility requirements. The interest rate for this loan is fixed at 7.9 percent. Parents are eligible to borrow up to the cost of education minus other financial aid (including other loans). The first payment is due within sixty days after disbursement.

Federal Direct PLUS Loan for Graduate and Professional Students

Students registered in graduate and professional programs are eligible to borrow under this federal loan program if they have no adverse credit history and meet other program eligibility requirements. The interest rate for the loan is fixed at 7.9 percent. Students can borrow up to the cost of education minus other financial aid (including other loans). Students should first apply for the Federal Direct Stafford Subsidized and Unsubsidized Loans before applying for the Grad PLUS.

Summer Session Financial Aid

Limited financial aid is available for UCSD students who qualify and enroll in Summer Session at UCSD or other UC campuses. In addition to the FAFSA, a Summer Session application must be completed online via TritonLink in early April. Types of aid include a limited amount of grants and loans. More information on Summer Session financial aid is available at <http://fao.ucsd.edu>.

Triton Registration Installment Plan (TRIP)

The UCSD Triton Registration Installment Plan (TRIP), administered by the Student Business Services (SBS), is a monthly payment arrangement and is available for students who desire an alternative method of financing their registration fees on a short-term basis. All students in good financial and academic standing are eligible for the program, except for those students whose financial aid or graduate support will pay their registration fees by the quarterly registration fee due date. A prerequisite to applying for the program is enrollment for the term. The TRIP allows registration fees to be paid in up to three installments each quarter. On a three-month plan, the first payment is required by the quarterly registration due date. The remaining payments are itemized on the student's next two monthly UCSD Billing Statements. There is a $30 (California resident) or $45 (nonresident) nonrefundable quarterly fee that must be submitted with the application to the Billing Services unit of the Student Business Services Office. This fee is strictly used to offset the costs of the program. For further information, please contact the Billing Services Unit at (858) 822-4727, or online at <http://sbs.ucsd.edu>.

Short-Term Emergency Loans

The limited emergency loan funds, administered by the Financial Aid Office, are loaned in small amounts to help students in critical short-term emergencies, and usually must be repaid within thirty days. There currently is a service charge of $20 per emergency loan, and students must be enrolled in at least six units. Registration fees must be paid prior to applying. Applications and further information are available from the Financial Aid Office. Students with serious financial concerns should meet with a financial aid counselor.

Federal Tax Credits

Two federal tax credits may benefit you or your parents, if the grants and scholarships you receive do not fully cover your fees. Both tax credits are tied to the tuition and fees paid for college.

The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1977 (TRA '97) created the Hope Scholarship Tax Credit and the Lifetime Learning Credit. The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 ("stimulus plan") includes the American Opportunity Tax Credit, which significantly expands the Hope Scholarship Tax Credit for the 2009 and 2010 tax years as follows:

- The maximum credit increases from $1,800 to $2,500, and consists of a tax credit for 100 percent of the first $2,000 and 25 percent of the second $2,000 in qualified tuition and related expenses.
- The definition of qualified tuition and related expenses now includes course materials, such as textbooks, in addition to tuition and fees.

- The income phase-outs have increased, now starting at $80,000 for single filers (fully phased out at $90,000) and $160,000 for married filing jointly (fully phased out at $180,000).
- The credit is no longer subject to the Alternative Minimum Tax (AMT).

To find out more about these tax credits, consult your tax advisor or visit the U.S. Department of Education Web site <http://studentaid.ed.gov/> and the "Finances" section on TritonLink.

Graduate Financial Assistance

See catalog section titled "Graduate Studies" for additional types of financial assistance available to graduate students.

The Undergraduate Scholarship Program

The purpose of the Undergraduate Scholarship Program at UCSD is to recognize outstanding achievement, to encourage academic excellence, and to offer support to meritorious students.

Scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis by the UCSD Faculty Committee on Undergraduate Scholarships and Honors. Merit scholarships are awarded on the basis of academic excellence. Restricted scholarships are awarded based on one or more additional criteria or restrictions such as financial need, study in a particular major, or leadership. Students who are awarded scholarships restricted by financial need must file a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) in order to document need and receive the award. Additionally, Undergraduate Research Scholarships are offered to current students, which enable them to pursue special studies and projects under faculty supervision.

Scholarship Donors

UCSD is actively engaged in developing new scholarship opportunities. Many of these awards were established through the generous support of individual donors, foundations, businesses, and community organizations. Every gift toward undergraduate scholarships is appreciated and appropriately recognized. ## How to Apply for Scholarships

Entering Students

The University of California Application for Undergraduate Admission and Scholarships is also used to apply for the UCSD Regents and other entering undergraduate scholarships. No other paperwork is required. The application is submitted in November for the following academic year. Because scholarships are awarded to entering students on a very competitive basis, students should carefully comply with instructions on the UC Application for Undergraduate Admission and Scholarships to ensure full consideration for all eligible scholarships. Entering students who receive a scholarship from UCSD will be notified in writing by or before April 1. We regret that we are unable to mail denial notification letters to other applicants.

Current UCSD Students

Current UCSD students apply for scholarships annually during winter quarter for the following fall quarter by filing the UCSD Continuing Student Scholarship Application. This application is available online via TritonLink in December and is due in February. Current students who receive a scholarship from UCSD will be notified in writing by early June. Students who do not receive an award will not be notified due to the large volume of applications.

HOUSING

Commuter Student Services

Commuter Student Services provides off-campus housing information and resources for commuter students. The university is located in the midst of a resort area that results in relatively high rent in the coastal towns of San Diego County: Del Mar and Solana Beach to the north of campus, La Jolla and Pacific Beach to the south. A general rule of thumb: The closer to the beach, the higher the rent. Commuter Student Services provides the UCSD Off-Campus Housing Directory, a free resource of rental and roommate listings posted by landlords and roommates exclusively for the UC San Diego community. The listings include individual houses, apartments, and condos, as well as roommates, rooms in private homes, and work-exchange situations. You must have a current UC ID card or official Letter of Acceptance to view online rental contacts. The office also provides helpful landlord/tenant materials such as sample leases, room rental agreements, and tenant request forms. Computers and a courtesy phone for local calling are available. Bus schedules, free-zone maps, and bus stickers are also available. Commuter Student Services supports commuters with quarterly off-campus housing workshops, special presentations, and a variety of community-building events. The Commuter Lounge is open twenty-four hours a day and includes vending machines, a kitchenette, board games, and magazines. The Commuter Student Services Web site allows for twenty-four-hour access to the resources offered, including the online rental listings and downloadable landlord/tenant forms. Services are available to registered students, staff, faculty, and alumni of the University of California only. Commuter Student Services is conveniently located on the first level of Price Center East near the campus transportation hub. For further information contact:

Undergraduate Residential Housing

Each college houses students in residence halls and/or apartments that are part of a unique housing system on campus. While facilities at each college are occupied primarily by students registered at that college, students from other colleges may also be residents.

Residence Halls and Apartments

Residence halls are arranged in suites of eight to eleven students who share a study/living room and restroom facilities. Apartments are self-contained units with kitchens, bathrooms, living areas, and combinations of two, three, or four bedrooms. Typically four to five students share an apartment. While incoming freshmen are generally assigned space in residence halls, demand for on-campus housing has resulted in a limited assignment of apartment spaces for incoming freshmen. Rooms are furnished and provide ample space for effective studying, sleeping, and storing of personal belongings, books, and clothes.

Each Residence Life Office makes specific room assignments in early September when the majority of spaces are filled. The Housing • Dining • Hospitality (HDH) Administrative Services Office administers all other details related to housing contracts.

General Information for Incoming Freshmen

The Living on Campus Housing Application Instructions Information Brochure was mailed in mid-March to all who were admitted to UC San Diego. Only online applications were accepted and students were given instructions on how to apply for on-campus housing via TritonLink. To be eligible for on-campus housing, the Housing Application and the Statement of Intent to Register form must have been received by the specified deadline dates. The priority system for room assignment is explained in the Living on Campus Housing Brochure.

Housing application deadline for fall 2010–11 was May 1, 2010, for incoming freshmen.

The HDH Administrative Services Office recommends that freshmen who were not offered housing by the first of June, call (858) 534-4010 for further information.

Transfer Student Housing

The community consists of a combination of seven three- to five-story buildings and one fourteen-story tower. The community includes 202 apartment-style units consisting of two, three, or four bedrooms. Each apartment has a living-dining-kitchen area, shared bathrooms, and storage, and each is furnished to provide ample space for effective studying, sleeping, and storing of personal belongings, books, and clothes. The community also includes residential and common spaces such as laundries, meeting spaces, and administrative offices. Retail space, including a café and a UC San Diego Bookstore annex, are placed on-site, as well as complementary outdoor spaces that have been developed to accommodate a variety of activities for residents.

The Village at Torrey Pines is LEED Silver certified, accomplished through energy-efficient building methods and materials, sustainable landscape design, and energy-efficient lighting.

For more information please view the Housing Web site: <http://hdh.ucsd.edu/thevillage> or e-mail thevillage@ucsd.edu.

INTERGROUP RELATIONS PROGRAM

Price Center East, Level 3
Mail Code 0078
(858) 534-6708
<http://irp.ucsd.edu>

The Intergroup Relations Program serves as a conflict resolution resource center for the UC San Diego campus, providing programs and services relating to hate/bias prevention, mediation of student intergroup conflict, and issues that affect campus climate. We achieve our mission through the following methods: education, problem resolution, campus climate assessment, and collaboration with UCSD departments and other universities.

Intergroup Dialogue courses are offered to give students an in-depth opportunity to acquire and practice essential communication and leadership skills needed to be a productive and culturally competent citizen in a diverse democracy. Our individual workshops, known as our Coexist programs, equip both individuals and groups with the skills, knowledge, and awareness necessary for working through conflict, understanding differences, and living in an increasingly complex and interconnected world. Information about workshops can be found at our Web site.

Our office also provides the opportunity to report bias incidents on campus. Bias incidents are acts of conduct, speech, or expression that target individuals and groups based on race, religion, ethnic or national origin, gender, age, disability, or sexual orientation. Filing a report helps the university create a safe environment that supports the educational mission of the institution. In addition, unreported bias incidents can perpetuate continued bias and erode the campus climate. Making a report calls attention to bias, reduces further incidents, and benefits the entire campus community. This service is also available at our Web site.

Intercollegiate Athletics at UCSD

www.UCSDtritons.com

The UC San Diego Athletic Department sponsors a broad base of men's and women's intercollegiate sports, which promote the pursuit of excellence, strength of character, teamwork, ethical conduct, and diversity, as well as other lessons competitive sport teaches. UCSD has been an NCAA Division II member since 2000, and most teams now compete in the California Collegiate Athletic Association, widely considered to be the top Division II athletic conference in the country. With twenty-three highly competitive teams to choose from, students with varying interests in participating in intercollegiate athletics have the opportunity to submerge themselves in A Proud Tradition of Academic and Athletic Excellence!

UCSD's teams have captured twenty-nine National Championships, while thirty-seven others have finished National Runners-up. Forty-four others have achieved national third place honors. Women's soccer and women's volleyball lead the way with seven national championships apiece, followed by women's water polo with five, women's tennis with four, men's soccer with three, and men's golf with one. In addition to succeeding on a national level, UCSD teams have captured forty-three conference championships and sixteen regional championships since moving to the NCAA Division II level, adding to the thirty-two conference championships and fifty-one regional championships obtained as a Division III competitor. Individually, 130 Triton student-athletes have won National Championships, while a remarkable 990 student-athletes have been named to All-America teams.

UCSD student-athletes have excelled academically as well, earning twenty-three prestigious NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarships and 140 Academic All-America selections. Consistently, more than 55 percent of the student-athletes earn a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher, placing them on the Athletic Director's Honor Roll.

In 2008–09, UCSD posted a seventh place finish out of more than 300 schools in the Learfield Sports Director's Cup, an award representing the best overall athletic department in the country. Since moving to Division II, UCSD has placed in the top seven in the Director's Cup standings on eight different occasions and finished second twice. UCSD finished first in the standings as a Division III member in 1997–98. At the conference level, UCSD has captured the California Collegiate Athletic Association Commissioner's Cup title—an award symbolizing the best overall athletic program in the CCAA—every year since its inaugural season in 2005–06.

UC San Diego currently offers basketball, crew, cross-country, fencing, soccer, swimming and diving, tennis, track and field, volleyball, and water polo for both men and women, as well as men's baseball, men's golf, and women's softball. In addition to becoming a student-athlete, UCSD students have the opportunity to get involved through a variety of athletic support groups, internships, and volunteer work. Triton Spirit Groups include the UCSD Cheer Team; the school mascot, King Triton; the UCSD Dance Team; Triton Tide; and the UCSD Pep Band. Each of these student organizations has grown steadily in recent years and helps create the spirited environment at Triton athletic events. Students interested in a firsthand experience in the operations of an athletics program should check into opportunities to work in game management, which provide staffing for all home athletic events, or inquire about internships within the Athletics Department.

In addition to the student groups, Triton Athletic Associates, a booster group of parents, alumni, and friends, supports the UC San Diego Athletic Department in its endeavor to provide an optimal student-athlete experience by providing contributions as an investment in The Proud Tradition of Athletic and Academic Excellence developed over nearly three decades of athletic success.

SARC cosponsors the R.A.D. (Rape Aggression Defense) self-defense workshops with the UCSD Police Department and the Women's Center. In addition, SARC offers (1) crisis intervention for student victims of rape, sexual assault, dating violence, and stalking, (2) accompaniment through the police, hospital, and judicial process, and (3) confidential counseling for student victims, family, and friends. If a sex offense occurs, SARC staff explain the victim's options of reporting to law enforcement and/or campus administrators. SARC staff will also provide information about other resources (i.e., medical assistance, campus and community counseling, and student services.)

Student Sex Offense Policy

UC San Diego does not tolerate sex offenses in any form, including sexual assault, sexual misconduct, harassment, exploitation, or intimidation. Reports of sex offenses may be made to the Sexual Assault & Violence Prevention Resource Center, the UC San Diego Police Department, the Office of Sexual Harassment Prevention and Policy, Counseling and Psychological Services, Student Health Service, and other campus resources outlined in the UC San Diego Sex Offense Policy. Student Health Service (SHS) is accredited by the American Association for Ambulatory Health Care, Inc. (AAAHC). Our purpose is to promote and preserve the health and well-being of all registered students so that they may pursue their academic goals. Our staff of physicians, nurse practitioners, registered nurses, medical assistants, health educators, and other medical professionals is committed to helping students maintain healthy lifestyles. SHS is conveniently located along Library Walk, west of the Price Center and south of Geisel Library. For more information about our services, see our Web site: <http://studenthealth.ucsd.edu>.

General medical appointments are provided for a minimal fee to all registration-paying students during the academic quarters. There is an access fee for urgent care and first-aid visits. Summer access to SHS is at no additional charge for students enrolled in SHIP. Continuing students not enrolled in SHIP will pay a fee for service to access Student Health Service.

Reduced fees are charged for pharmaceuticals, contraceptives, travel immunizations, and laboratory tests sent to our reference lab. A list of associated costs for urgent care, appointments, immunizations, lab, X-rays, physical therapy, specialty appointments, and nutrition counseling can be viewed on our Web site.

The Optometry Clinic offers modest fees for eyeglasses, designer frames, lenses, sunglasses, contacts and eye exams. Students enrolled in SHIP are eligible for additional product discounts.

Although undergraduate, graduate, medical, and international students may have unlimited visits with SHS, students requiring medical or surgical care from practitioners, hospitals, or clinics other than SHS should be prepared to assume the cost of such care. SHIP provides benefits for ambulance, emergency room, hospitalization, most outpatient services, surgery, and major medical expenses with a written SHS referral (applies when the student is within a hundred-mile radius of UCSD; outside the hundred-mile radius, a referral is not needed for services). SHIP also includes benefits for a dental plan, pharmaceuticals, and discounts at the SHS

Optometry Clinic. The cost for SHIP is factored into grants, loans, and work-study programs offered to students who receive financial assistance.

Students covered by private health insurance that meets university waiver criteria can opt out of SHIP by completing the waiver application online through TritonLink prior to posted deadlines. Waivers are processed each academic year. For additional changes, requests, or information, contact the Student Health Insurance office. All registration-paying students are automatically enrolled in SHIP unless approved for a health-fee waiver. The campus-based insurance plans do not replace the primary medical care and referral services provided by the Student Health Service.

Brochures describing the Student Health Insurance Plan, limitations, exclusions, and open enrollment periods are available at Student Health Service and through our Web site: <http://studenthealth.ucsd.edu>. Insurance coordinators are available to assist students by phone at (858) 534-2124.

Nestled in a eucalyptus grove, the wood exterior of Student Center stands in contrast to the modern Jerusalem stone façade of Price Center. The casual atmosphere and unique blend of services make Student Center a special place. The main building is home to UCSD's student cooperatives: The General Store, Groundwork Books, and the Food Co-op. UCSD's The Guardian newspaper, KSDT radio station, and SRTV are located here along with several student organizations and alternative campus media. Student Center is a popular study spot with an inviting lounge and fireplace, comfortable outdoor study areas, TreeHouse Computer Lounge, and academic services such as A.S. Soft Reserves and A.S. Lecture Notes. The Women's Center and LGBT Resource Center provide events, services, and special programs. There are also conference/meeting rooms, three ATMs, and the UCSD BikeShop, which sells, repairs, and maintains bikes and bike accessories. Next to the main building is The Stage at the Pub where dances, concerts, and many other events occur. The Stage is connected to Porter's Pub, which serves lunch, dinner, and microbrew beer. Students, faculty, staff, alumni, and community members learn the art of neon, pottery, glass blowing, and other crafts in classes offered at the Crafts Center. Nearby, specialty coffees, light cuisine, and an occasional musical performance are served up in the patio setting of the Grove Cafe, one of the most serene places on campus. Just south of the Student Center on the Revelle campus is the Ché Café. The Ché is a student-run cooperative serving a vegan menu at very affordable prices and is home to a variety of all-ages concerts, lectures, and performances.

The Center for Student Involvement strongly supports the notion that the university must provide learning experiences for students both within and outside the classroom. Volunteering in the community and participating in leadership workshops, seminars, conferences, and in any of more than 450 student organizations are integral parts of the university experience. With so many organizations and activities to choose from, there is bound to be something that sparks individual interest. If not, students can start their own organization! Registration for student organizations begins in the fall and continues throughout the academic year, and the advisors can assist with selecting an organization or with starting one.

In addition, leadership seminars are organized to help strengthen the leadership potential of students. Listed below are some of the training programs scheduled each year:

- Improving interpersonal skills
- Public relations
- Interviewing techniques
- Fund raising
- Team building
- Running effective meetings
- Time management
- Careers in student affairs
- Budget management
- Motivation
- Stress management
- Ethics
- Publicity/advertising
- Recruiting volunteers
- Diversity

We invite students to stop by the Center for Student Involvement on Level 3 of Price Center East to learn more about student organizations, Greek life, community service, and leadership opportunities!
